Washington County, Alabama was a part of the Mississippi Territory prior to the establishment of the Alabama Territory and later the State of Alabama.

Some early territorial records may be found in the Courthouse, Chatam, Alabama. At the time this compiler was in Chatam the records were in a rather unorganized condition, and it was rather difficult to locate some of the older records.

The marriages records prior to 1856 do not appear to be complete, but they were all that could be located at the time they were copied for this publication.

It is possible that they are now in a better order. It is suggested anyone seeking genealogical information and in need of a marriage record that does not appear in this book should write to the Probate Clerk of Washington County, Alabama.

The above mentioned clerk will furnish a copy of any records in this book for a small fee.
